Home Came The Angels

Home, Home Came The Angels All that was never alive Cast out and still welcome All that was never alive

Home, Home Came The Angels To the shore and sea where they lie And still the days fire on With never ending pace

And we are now no nearer To the finish of the race And who will know we won No one

Big Country