

I'm not the one who holds it all together
I'm not the one who breathes the breath of life
But I know that every breath I take is a gift I can't deny

Constantly, God, You are holding me
Even when I don't understand
God, You are everything that I will ever need
And You will be constantly

You give peace beyond my understanding
And You give rest in the middle of the fight
You're the song that rises up in me when my faith has all but died

Constantly, God, You are holding me
Even when I don't understand
God, You are everything that I will ever need
And You will be

You don't ever waver, God
You don't ever falter, God
Every time I call, You are always faithful

You don't ever make mistakes
You won't ever walk away
You said You'll be with me always, always faithful

You are always faithful
You are always faithful

Constantly, God, You are holding me
Even when I don't understand
God, You are everything that I will ever need
And You will be constantly
Holding me faithfully
You are so constantly
