

Candy Colored Glasses

Big Kenny

I'm looking at the world through these Candy colored glasses that I'm wearing
Staring, noticing that everything is
Just the way I'd like for it to be
So please knock before you walk into my dream

Oh the birds are dancing sky is turning ebony and gray
The trees are leaning swaying to the rhythm of the day
Horses running from the thunder rolling by Voices screaming from their no where looking eyes

Looking at the world through these
Candy colored glasses that I'm wearing
Staring, noticing that everything is
Just the way I'd like for it to be Knock before you walk into my dream (Knock before you walk into my dream)

The wind is singing she's running
Through the flower-covered hills
Water falling across my back and I can feel a chill
Walking over bridges clouds are down below
Talking to someone I'd like to get to know

Looking at the world through these
Candy colored glasses that I'm wearing
Staring, noticing that everything is
Just the way I'd like for it to be Knock before you walk into my dream (Knock before you walk into
my dream)

Looking at the world through these
Candy colored glasses that I'm wearing
Staring, noticing that everything is
Just the way I'd like for it to be Knock before you walk into my dream (Knock before you walk into
my dream)
Knock before you walk into my dream (Knock before you walk into
my dream)