

Something

Big Sean

Relax, would you? Hold up, would you?
Just fall back, would you?
I mean it really ain't, it really ain't
That bad with you, just step back, would you?
Shit, relax

Aye, aye, everybody going through something
I need you to come down now and keep me company
All we did and all we been through, it can't be for nothing
I go so hard on myself, it's self destruction
But everybody going through something
It ain't even 'bout what's real, it's 'bout what you trusting
Channel all that energy, fuck all that fuck shit
Man, everybody going through something
Everybody going through something, yeah

I been down and uneven, I been drowning and sinking
Popping 30mgs for no reason
Pops say it's always a reason
Just like it's always a season
You gotta know when to breathe in
You so good at putting time in
But not taking time out when you need
So scared of losing everything that you already feel defeat
Try to bury your problems deep down
Not knowing they're deceased
You MIA half the time, your cousin crashed
Got a shattered spine, he can't even walk up to his baby crying
You ain't even check in to make sure he fine
Shit, because everybody's going through something
You steady tripping on dumb shit
You like to tell me I'm kidding around
When a baby is all that you wanted
Sometimes, we pray and ask God for these things
And not realizing all it come with
I feel like you don't really hear me, though
You know I like being alone, but not feeling alone
You know I live in my head, it's like my second home
I know you tryna help, it's hard to accept it, though
Please don't judge me

Aye, aye, everybody going through something
I need you to come down now and keep me company
All we did and all we been through, it can't be for nothing
I go so hard on myself, it's self destruction
But everybody going through something
It ain't even 'bout what's real, it's 'bout what you trusting
Channel all that energy, fuck all that fuck shit
Man, everybody going through something
Everybody going through something, yeah

Put some in the air for me
Put some in the air for me
Put some in the air for me