Speed Of Sound

I remember the first time You said you loved me I waited all weekend You never called me

So you find him attractive So what if he is You'd like some excitement You could count his same kiss

So it goes On and on My love grows And yours is gone

A lonely existence Well it's just a lie If there is a reason I'd like to know why

Something I want you to know I've told you this once before Don't want you to see him no more

Once again You've let me down Broke my heart And turned me round

There's a light in the darkness It doesn't seem far Is something the matter ajar

The plane goes down Will not land Pilot's dead Nowhere to be found
