

So Clear

Big Wreck

It's so clear
Look at it from the outside in
It's all near, in front of us now

The first up the ladder is always the first to fall
It's so clear in front of us now

Well, the world will let you down again
You feeling it as you mull
And while you're burning down again
You're back where you were before

You're still waiting for your ever after

I'll put it in a letter before I forget
You ever really think of how much you regret
The younger years are wild
You haven't turned a bit
Your knight in shining armour is tarnished and red

So clear
Get it from the top side down
So near
Close to it now

Oh, the celebrations over
This has happened to you before

You're still waiting for your ever after
You're fading, fading away

Running away from something
It's kind of reflective
Rear view closer than it appears
I've never understood it
I couldn't connect the stillness
It's quite alright if your script has failed
It's not alright
Was he built?
Another knight from a cursed iron

Still waiting for your ever after
Cause you're fading, fading away

First up the ladder first one to fall
How could you fall so far
First up the ladder first one to fall
Look at you fall so far

Still fading
You're fading away
You're fading away

So clear
You're fading away