

Early Libra

Billy Cobham

Sometimes we come so close Elary libra
Yet times we seem so far away
But there'll soon be a day when we'll walk together
Down a street called life
And cast all our fears away. . . .
Clearly, watching, feeling you
How can I think your thoughts yet I feel I do
As two we'll see life's lights through. . . .

To think of you so much is to live for life
Our thoughts blend like the day with night
But the time has come
When we will meet each other at the rainbow's end
And blend out forever all
Clearly, watching, feeling you
Often I feel your thoughts when I think of you
As two we'll see life's lights through

As one we'll stand together in each others arms
And take the world on day bay day
Yes there will be a time when we'll be together
Early libra
Don't feel you must stay away
