Billy Howerdel

Another wave's on the way
Another moment's passing by
While you and I pretend
There was something left to try

We tied ourselves to a mast on fire
Drunk on faith and in denial
Intentions pure of heart and of mind
I played God with your fragile heart
You watched my eyes as they lost their spark
Drifting rudderless and lost within the fire
The fire

Another wave's on the way
Another moment's passing by
While you and I pretend
There was something left to try
Another wave's on the way
We're left holding back these tides
Are you and I at the part where we should just say goodbye?

I don't know how to save our world from
These dark campaigns we have unfurled
These echo chambers keep us locked inside
Only in time we'll know the cost of Continual lies and lessons lost
Aimlessly adrift and lost deep in the fire
The fire

Another wave's on the way
Another moment's passing by
While you and I pretend
There was something left to try
Another wave's on the way
Are you and I at the part where we, where we should say goodbye
Goodbye, goodbye

(Goodbye)
(Goodbye)
(Goodbye)
(Goodbye)
(Goodbye)
