

Talk

Billy Lockett

Where do you go?
Where do you go when you look at me like that?
Like that?
And how can I know?
How can I know when you're holding your words back
Like that?

'Cause I'm trying my best to love you, instead I'm crying
And you're terrified
I'm giving you time, but you're pushing me aside for nothing

I'm listening whenever you're ready to talk
And I love you, yeah, you know I'll always be yours
But it kills me 'cause you're not yourself anymore
Still I'm listening whenever you're ready to talk

Something ain't right
Something ain't right and it's weighing me down
No sound
Wish you could read my mind
Wish you could see the signs 'cause I'm leaving you out
Closed out from knowing

'Cause I'm trying my best to love you, instead I'm crying
And you're terrified
I'm giving you time, but you're pushing me aside for nothing

I'm listening whenever you're ready to talk
And I love you, yeah, you know I'll always be yours
But it kills me 'cause you're not yourself anymore
Still I'm listening whenever you're ready to Talk to me 'cause I'm hoping, wishing, praying

Are you ever gonna talk to me?
Yeah, I'm hoping, wishing, praying
Are you ever gonna talk to me?

'Cause I'm trying my best to love you, instead I'm crying

I'm listening whenever you're ready to talk
And I love you, yeah, you know I'll always be yours
But it kills me 'cause you're not yourself anymore
Still I'm listening whenever you're ready to talk
