

You & I

Billy Raffoul

You hold his fingertips
But I know you got my name on your crimson lips
And it's alright, just for the night
But your tone in time will slip
And he'll notice that your eyes are open when you kiss
And it's alright, just for the night

It's been a long time in the making, love
We're gonna make it, love
You and I

And I won't soon forget
The way you let your guard slip on down
When no one's around
It's that feeling that you get
When you know your love is spent
And you've gone and let your God down

It's been a long time in the making, love
We're gonna make it, love
You and I

Been a long time in the making, love
I can't fake it, love
It's you and I
You and I
