

Cabin Song

Billy Strings

Take me back to the woods where she left me
Let me walk through them hills all alone
Where your love still wanders through the valley
And the vines have covered up our cabin home

Far away in a great northern forest
There's a place where I once loved to dwell
And it feels like my poor heart is breaking
For the girl that I used to love so well

So take me back to the woods where she left me
Let me walk through them hills all alone
Where your love still wanders through the valley
And the vines have covered up our cabin home

Now the years are flying by just like an eagle
And it's casting a shadow down below
My memory is piercing like a needle
And I know that I've got nowhere left to go

So take me back to the woods where she left me
Let me walk through them hills all alone
Where your love still wanders through the valley
And the vines have covered up our cabin home

If I ever made it back to our cabin
Well, that's where I'd want to be forevermore
When I die, you can lay me there beside her
Where the vines have covered up the door

So take me back to the woods where she left me
Let me walk through them hills all alone
Where your love still wanders through the valley
And the vines have covered up our cabin home
