

I Beg To Differ (This Will Get Better)

Billy Talent

One day you're gonna wake up from this dream
To find out that your life ain't what it seems

When you feel so lost that you don't belong
Well, I beg to differ
As time goes on this will get better
And you can't go wrong if your will is strong
Enough under pressure
As time goes on this will get better
This will get better

You struggle every day but no one sees
And trouble leads away your self esteem
You're so afraid to face tomorrow
The only thing that waits is sorrow
You can't see the light from behind the curtains

When you feel so lost that you don't belong
Well, I beg to differ
As time goes on this will get better
And you can't go wrong if your will is strong
Enough under pressure
As time goes on this will get better
This will get better

Don't suffer through the dark days
Let up on the barricades
Try to face the pain and let it go
No matter what they all say
You can find another way
Never have to battle this alone
Don't suffer through the dark days
Let up on the barricades
Try to face the pain and let it go
No matter what they all say
There'll always be another way
You don't have to battle this alone

When you feel so lost that you don't belong
Well, I beg to differ
As time goes on this will get better
And you can't go wrong if your will is strong
Enough under pressure
As time goes on this will get better
This will get better

This will get better
Don't you surrender
This will get better
This will get better
This will get better
Don't you surrender
This will get better
