

Just A Thought

Billy Talent

Hey
Um

I just thought of a thought
This is what was thought up
Of all the battles and the wars that I once fought
We live [?] take a look at the kind
Searching for something that is nowhere to find
We look now, look back to understand why
There are the instincts to love and there are the instincts to die
And repeat repeat 'cause that's all we'll ever do
And defeat defeat 'cause it's all we'll ever know

It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know is nothing but just a thought
It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know at the moment is just, just, just a thought

Um, excuse me... Yes? Is that one taken?
Oh I'm sorry I must've been mistaken
Please tell me what do you want me for [?]
You were the one in control, you were the one with the doubt

By the way let me tell ya all your searching is done
So don't believe the motto [?]

It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know is nothing but just a thought
It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know at the moment is just, just, just a thought

I just thought of a thought
This is what was thought up
Of all the battles and the wars that I once fought
We live [?] take a look at the kind
Searching for something that is nowhere to find
Nowhere to find
Nowhere to find
Nowhere to find
Well guess what
It's, it's, it's, it's

It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know is nothing but just a thought
It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know is nothing but just a thought

Go!
What what
Shoot me down, shoot me down
Shoot me down, shoot me down
Shoot me down, shoot me down
Shoot me down, shoot me down
Shoot it down, shoot it down
Shoot it down, shoot it down
Ooh

It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know is nothing but just a thought
It's time to start believing in what you want
Knowing that what you know is nothing but just a thought