

Blame The Devil

Billy Woods

Halfway in the picture, I ain't really care to be there
Standing in the doorway of a shutter tabernacle
Friday night miraculous, test the spirit accurate
Sister Bathsheba fast and praying for her Lazarus
Spirit move, God is good all the time, organ vamp
Push the keys starve the show, they speak in tongue I never spoke

War with heathen bones somehow can't leave evil alone
To me that's cool, but to each their own
Tears streaming down the faces of the overjoyed
Candy money burning hole inside my corduroys
Sister say she holding on tight e'en though she unemployed
Good and faithful servant, triple services on Sunday
Probably kept me away from gunplay, inside but still on the outs

To arrive with sermon on the mountain, analyze what I'm given
Seem can't shake doubt, in the potter's house word became flesh
Let my light shine, make me over Lord, I'm not comfy in my right mind

Broke by explosion out the blackest void, the devil is a liar
Depends on who you asking for, we are at war watching bodies hit the floor

[?] When I became a man, I put it all behind
Put that all behind, put that all behind

Halfway in the picture, I ain't really care to be there
Nodded in the doorway of a shutter tabernacle
I could close my eyes and hear the tambourines rattle
Contrite confession only thing that truly matter
Kick this body in remembrance, quite cannibalistic
Mysterious omnipotence, how to ignore the poor and defenseless
If you could truly make a difference, simple point of interest
From inquisitive youth, leave no room for interpretation
Infallible truth, entering this temple, while praises rocking loud

Tacky suit, shock-hued, electric blue, Revelation have you spooked
Making waves when there was none, highest praise always sung
Seven eyes, seven crowns, I was lost, now I'm found
End of days amazing time, everybody's got a word
Mine just happens to rhyme, a guarded heart is well-deserved
In this world beset apart somebody knocking on the door
I didn't bother to respond, respond

[?] When I became a man, I put it all behind
Put that all behind, put that all behind