

Cold runs the tears down my cheek
Reflect the wounds that cut this deep
Remind me that the frame is real
A cruel friend that won't let the fracture heal

I feel the warmth in my soul
Don't take me back into the cold, into the cold

Will you make me feel the love again?
Will this pain inside me ever end?

I drag myself away from here
Into a place where no-one has to fear
I pour my life into this glass
And the pain is more and I can't last

I feel your warmth
Can you keep me safe?
I feel your warmth
Can you keep me safe?

Will you make me feel the love again?
Will this pain inside me ever end?
Please make me feel your love again
Will the cracks inside my heart ever mend?

I want to know who you really are
'Cause I want to believe that you love me

Will you make me feel the love again?
Will this pain inside me ever end?
Please make me feel your love again
Will the cracks inside my heart ever mend?
