

Holes made by the sun
Marks on the outside by a knife
I'm asking myself why I can never feel the rest
Isn't it obvious
It's not surreal
I'm sure it's in all of us
Broken but healed
Can't remember who I was
Recall my younger skin
Reflection doesn't show
Everything within

We're wide-eyed
A constant to keep me in your skin
And could I remember to clear up where I've been
I'm wondering

Don't be so afraid
When I know you're why I was made
You can stay focused on my hand
Maybe one more step ahead
I need to be next to you my love
You're making me feel whole again

We're wide-eyed
A constant to keep me in your skin
And could I remember to clear up where I've been
I'm wondering

I'm so glad I have you with me
Keep your hand in mine, I know we'll be alright
I know we'll be alright

We're wide-eyed
A constant to keep me in your skin
And could I remember to clear up where I've been
I'm wondering

Lying alone sinking deep into myself
My memories pull me back from drowning
Lying awake thinking of ways to heal myself
Fading in and out of dreaming
