

Shoulder

Bilmuri

I used to make believe
The false words the drug gave us to sleep
So foolish and so naïve
Faint as truth buried beneath
I used to make believe
I judged the ones that weren't like me
Thought I would just agree
It was easier to drive the knife down me
You still believe
Till I saw words drip down their sleeves
They said, I'm in it for me
Don't frame your love with selfish dreams

Turn on the lights
Look outside and see this place is not as bad as I thought it would be
I needed relief
From the pain I felt inside from always questioning if you're here with me
Now I know that you're here with me

I want to believe
Separate the truth from lie
I want to believe
Who I can give up in time

Turn on the lights
Look outside and see this place is not as bad as I thought it would be
I needed relief
From the pain I felt inside from always questioning if you're here with me

I know I still believe
'Cause your love's unconditional
