

Tears

Bipolar Sunshine

Again and again down this road
How many tiny souls have we had to fold
Hear my pain from my chest
Seeing all this unrest
Somehow tears will make us stronger

I can feel it in the city a thousand miles away
I can't believe it, what's the reason you took my heart away
Bloods been lost from olden road to prince of parkway
Innocent mothers and fathers crying all day

What we fighting for
Let the love we have be pure

Again and again down this road
How many tiny souls have we had to fold
Hear my pain from my chest
Seeing all this unrest
Somehow tears will make us stronger
Somehow tears will make us stronger

Whatever it is we can come together
Let's build up a bridge that we can hold forever
Don't let them divide us all we can do better
Hold your light, hold your light, your light, your light

What we fighting for
Let the love we have be pure
As one we can exist
Under one sun and moonlight

Again and again down this road
How many tiny souls have we had to fold
Hear my pain through my chest
Seeing all this unrest
Somehow tears will make us stronger

Let our tears make us stronger
Let our tears make us stronger
Let our tears make us stronger