

My Darling My Son

Birds of Tokyo

My darling, my son
I believe in the man you'll be
Oh darling, my darling, my son

You're just a boy
Four foot learning to walk with giants
Who like to fight and the rules always change
Stay in the light
Make sure you can see the moves they make
Soon you will understand
What makes a boy change into a man

My darling, my son
There'll be days the pain won't stop
My darling, my son
Stay afloat in the flood
My darling, my son
Time can take you apart it's true
Oh darling, my darling, you'll know

You've grown a lot
A little bit wiser, little bit bolder
You've seen the highs and life changing lows
No matter what
When the lights go out I will always be there
Just reach into the dark
I will always know where you are

My darling, my son
I believe in the man I see
My darling, my son
But there's so much to learn
My darling, my son
I believe in the man you'll be
Oh darling, my darling hold on

Cause so many dreams
Will never make it out of your sleep
Life ain't always kind it can be
So beautiful then turn on you all too easy

Be ready to feel
Things you thought you never would feel
Like love, loss and all in between
These moments that will change everything believe me

My darling my son there's a long way to go
My darling my son you've got to leave the light on
And if there comes one day where the whole world collapses
No matter what happens
You're stronger than me

My darling my son you will always be loved
My darling my son I will never leave you alone
I know that come one day you will be all you've wanted
You're a good man you're honest
You're the best part of me

My darling, my son
I believe in the man you'll be
Oh darling, my darling, my son
