

State Lines

Birdy

Left in tall shadows
And I drove for half a day, crossed over the state lines
Cause you're nothing like the face you show
When we were dancing on our faith, I gave you the first time

You can't drag me down
Like a weight hanging off my shoulder
See you clearer now
Stirring up the water
All these tears, they fall
They won't last much longer
I lie awake, a couple nights
A heart can ache, but not that I

I won't break for you
I won't break for you
I won't break for you
Steady as the wind blows
Feel the rain rushing right over my head, down
(Feel the rain rushing right over my head, down)

Drifting like smoke trails
Watching the darkness turn to light, nothing but silence
Heard an echo as you called my name
But if you're searching for me now, to the horizon

You can't drag me down
Like a weight hanging off my shoulder
See you clearer now
Stirring up the water
All these tears, they fall
They won't last much longer
I lie awake, a couple nights
A heart can ache, but not that I

I won't break for you
I won't break for you
I won't break for you
Steady as the wind blows
Feel the rain rushing right over my head, down

You're just thunder roaring past
Even in the darkest storm
Nothing better ever lasts
Even in the worst of pours
Once I'm gone, I won't look back
I won't break for you
