

Forgive Me

Bizzle

Yo, its Bizzle!

I know it ain't easy to admit when you wrong

A lot of us walk around like we ain't got nothing to ask for forgiveness for

So for those who struggle with it

I'll go first

Uhh! Lord forgive me for taking you for granted

Playing you for a fake and mistaking you for santa

Aching for the steak and not thanking you for manna

Straying when I have and just praying when I have not

Lord forgive me for running to the paper

Chasing the cash with plans and coming to you later

Hoping you forgive me feeling like I know you gon forgive me

So for now I'm going for the milli

Forgive me for the times I made a promise and lied

Saying I promise to God not being honest at all

Forgive me for taking advantage of women

Forgive me for claiming I'm saved and happily sinning

Forgive me for the times I was in the strip club with my cross on

Like I was representing you and had it all wrong

And try to make it up to you would be a lost cause

If i had to name it all this would be a long song

Lord forgive me

For I sin

Over and over again

Help me change my life

My life [x4]

I read your memories of my sin

Over and over again

I repent!

Lets Go!

Uhh! Lord forgive me for doubting Jesus

For wondering if you even exist sometimes and not believing

For acting to busy like its no time for reading

Then hopping on the Xbox for the entire evening

For cursing your name in conversation

For every sick thought that cross my brain while I was praying

Forgive me For falling asleep in church

Then getting a sudden burst of energy as soon as I leave church

Forgive me for sitting in traffic and complaining

Instead of praying for people involved in the accident

For turning the little homies into riders for me

Forgive me for letting Eve sale her body for me

And forgive me for everytime that i played the bully

And did somebody wrong because i knew they couldn't whoop me

Forgive me for praying for different stuff

And getting mad and losing faith because it ain't happenin' quick enough

Aye!

Lord forgive me but lately all that I've been facing

Got me thinking if I'm ever escaping these temptations

Accepting defeat with my back against the wall

You kept me on my feet even when i was meant to fall

Thank You

Lord forgive me for seeking the applause
Feeding my ego and clearly the victory is yours
See me and Bizzle we both got this one thing in common
Trying to shed some light on the truth when we be rhyming
Since you don't know what we been through don't judge us
If our chances still do so we won't hold grudges
Why bother?
Life is too short to live with regret
Plus our Father teaches us we should Forgive and Forget
Yet in reality its easier said than done
Especially when you ain't a preacher or a nun
So I pray for strength and forgive them in your name
And its only by your grace that for me you'll do the same
