Stirring at waters edge Cold froth on my twig My mind in whirls Wanders around desire

May I, can I or have I too often Craving miracles May I, can I or have I too often now Craving miracles Craving miracles

No one imagines the light shock I need And I'll never know From whose hands deeply humble Dangerous gifts as such to mine come

May I, should I or have I too often Craving miracles May I, can I or have I too often Craving miracles Craving miracles

My romantic gene is dominant And it hungers for union Universal intimacy All embracing

May I, should I or have I too often Craved miracles May I, can I or have I too often Craved miracles Crave

Waves irregularly striking Wind stern in my face Thunderstorm come Scrape these barnacles off me!

May I, may I or should I too often Crave miracles May I or should I or have I too often

All my body parts are one As lightning hits my spine Sparkling Prime runs through me Revive my wish Inviolable

May I, can I or have I too often Craving miracles May I, can I, should I or have I too often Craving miracles
