

ZERO FANTASY

Black Dresses

Pure light, x-rays scatter
Sunshine, brand a pinhole in the back of my mind
Pure love, if nothing shines as bright
Please don't burn me down
My blood, still swing the hammer
Pure love will see me on the other side
Wearing wigs and masks with funny colors
I think we're laughing and playing
While I start to lose my insides

I ask her
"Go easy"
She holds my head, I see
I'd rather be dirty
I don't think that doing the right thing ever suited me none

Even if you kill all my dreams
I still see my McDonald's summers
Staring out through the glass at the world
Like watching TV
Now I know I don't hate myself anymore
I just can't protect her
And as time covers everything that I used to be
A new world that I can't even imagine breathes

Is this really what the dreamer feels like
Starlight showers us and crushes into every stain
In my head I always thought we'd be dissolved
So cleanly nobody would ever find a trace

I ask her
"Go easy"
She holds my head, I see
I'd rather be dirty
I don't think that doing the right thing ever suited me none

Even if you kill all my dreams
I still see my McDonald's summers
Staring out through the glass at the world
Like watching TV
Now I know I don't hate myself anymore
I just can't protect her
(I just can't protect her)
And as time covers everything that I used to be
A new world that I can't even imagine breathes