

Changes

Black Lab

I looked at you like you were someone who could save me
I looked at you like you were someone I'd become
You looked like someone who never would betray me
Now I don't want to be the one who's still in love

I am one false step away
I am one false step away

Now I don't want these changes
No I can't take these changes
So how do I go back in time
How can I survive these changes

You'd go crazy over nothing and nothing was enough
The things I'd say could peel the paint off of houses
It made you wanna run
You made me wanna love

But I am one false step away
I am one false step away

Now I don't want these changes
No I can't take these changes
So how do I go back in time
How can I love these changes

Pieces of you
Lost to me now
How can I let go of
Ways that time drowns me
Pieces of us
Burst into flame

Now I don't want these changes
No I can't take these changes
So how do I go back in time
How can I love these changes
