

New Prayer

Black Lab

Wind in my heart
Wind in my heart
Dust in my head
Dust in my head

I need something like a drug that won't fuck me up,
Something like pain that won't go away keeping me awake
I need something like a girl you know making me work but inside not outside
I need a window a way out of these mirrors.
Something that matters, matters more than survival
Something to keep me, hold me broken and lonely that can keep me alive

I need a new prayer
I need a new prayer (to pray)
I need a new word
I need a new word (to say)
Yeah it's only silence... only silence
Yeah it's only silence... only silence

I need something like sleep like a dream yeah but perfectly real
A sharp blade of grass kick my ass
Something inside and not outside
Something that kills that can bring me back
Something that's perfectly matched to the place where I come
In the middle of the place where I come
That can pick me off the ground when I'm done
That can hold me to flame and let it burn me down

I need a new prayer
I need a new prayer (to pray)
I need a new word
I need a new word (to say)

I need a new word
I need a new word
There's only silence
There's only silence

Another sun
Another sun
Get me in this
I won't wait for you
When all is fought and won
Can't believe what I have done
This soul

I need a new prayer
I need a new prayer (to pray)
I need a new word (to say)
I need a new word
I need new...
It's only silence
Yeah, it's only silence

(perfection)

(completion)
