

Too Far Away

Black River

When I come alive, and blood is running hot, so hot, that you can feel

When I stand behind, your back, breathing so hard, that you can hear

You don't know, what can happen now, what electric sings, I'll send to you

You never walk alone, feeling me near, so close till you get scared

You're looking around but too far away

I'm so close to you

You're looking around but too far away

I'm so close to you

You're looking around but too far away

Looking around but too far away

Looking around but too far away

When I feel your skin, so close to mine, so near, yet so far

When I see how, you suffer feeling me, I should leave you and go away

You're looking around but too far away

I'm so close to you

You're looking around but too far away

I'm so close to you

You're looking around but too far away

Looking around but too far away

Looking around but too far away

You're looking around but too far away

You're looking around but too far away

You're looking around but too far away

I'm so close to you

You're looking around but too far away

I'm so close to you

You're looking around but too far away

Looking around but too far away

Looking around but too far away

When I come alive and my blood is running hot

When I see how you suffer feeling me
