

Not Afraid

Black Stone Cherry

I got two feet in a world full of landmines
Sometimes love turns into a landslide
Ignite the flame, burn out the pain
Fresh scars lead to new frustrations
You choose just what you make them
Incite the brain, invite the change

I'm not afraid of life without you
And by the way, I wear my scars across my heart
Everyday, I'm getting stronger
Picking up pieces, making that change
One more reason why I'm not afraid

Here come a steam train head first on a fast track
Smoke rolls when the fire starts to come back
To feel alive is better than high
I'm still here with a brand new vision
A new reason for my decisions
To be enough, to live and love

I'm not afraid of life without you
And by the way, I wear my scars across my heart
Everyday, I'm getting stronger
Picking up pieces, making that change
One more reason why I'm not afraid

I'm not afraid of life without you
And by the way, I wear my scars across my heart
Everyday, I'm getting stronger
Picking up pieces, making that change
One more reason why I'm not afraid