

When Angels Learn To Fly

Black Stone Cherry

I've cried till my tears ran out, just at the thought of you
I swear to God I'd rather drown, than swim in this sea of truth

But here we are, a whole new start
We'll make it work, I know this is gonna hurt

Stop right there, I just need a second of your time
To let you know, I will always keep you by my side
You were there when I was gone, you were the strength to carry on
Stop right there, is this how it feels when angels learn to fly

I know she waits for you to call, driving home won't ever be the same
I know that he still feels you now, he said it makes him feel so brave

But here we are, a hole in our hearts
For better or worse, we still smile, even though it hurts

Stop right there, I just need a second of your time
To let you know, I will always keep you by my side
You were there when I was gone, you were the strength to carry on
Stop right there, is this how it feels when angels learn to fly

I've been hopeless and broken, since you've gone away
I've been hopeless and broken, since you've gone away
I've been hopeless and broken, since you've gone away
I've been hopeless and broken, since you've gone away

Stop right there, I just need a second of your time
To let you know, I will always keep you by my side
You were there when I was gone, you were the strength to carry on
Stop right there, is this how it feels when angels learn to fly