

A strange time in a place so long ago
Of god and man and the thunder and lightning below
The situation got the better of the world
As no one listened to a single word

Once upon a time when I was a king
And you believed in me cos I was everything

Where is the crown that I used to wear
All the believers and all the nay sayers
Where is the crown the lies that you tell
Down in the shadows where it's all gone to hell

I got down on my knees and started to pray
It was so long ago
I try hard just to find something to say
Something to say
My mind is strong but my body will break
I need forgiveness from those I forsake

Once upon a time when I was a king
And you believed in me cos I was everything

Where is the crown that I used to wear
All the believers and all the nay sayers
Where is the crown the lies that you tell
Down in the shadows where it's all gone to hell

Bent on destruction, we race to the end
Destiny's calling like an old friend
Love is our saviour our kiss and tell
From the beginning to the last bell

Where is the crown that I used to wear
All the believers and all the nay sayers
Where is the crown the lies that you tell
Down in the shadows where it's all gone to hell

Where is my crown
Where is my crown...
