Black Uhuru

I look up to the sun
To see if the day is done
To see my future that lies within
I look up to the sun
Now the day is done
The loveing night, spread its wings like a dove
But in my vision I see
The tune of melody
The song we used to sing
The joy love can bring. in my future lies ahead
The struggle of my bread
The love I feel I think its so real
I look up in the stars
It so near yet far
It gives a light to the world we live in
I look up to the moon to see its beauty gloom
To see the brightness of that light
But in jah glory as you see
The mystic and beauty, the sun, the moon, the Stars
It shows love's not far

In the nature loveing flight, the loveing
Peaceful lark, we shall live as
Olné from the start
I look up to the clouds
Its so high at ground
It makes the day as (?)
I look up to the sun
To see if the day is done
To see my future that lies within
But in jah glory as you see
The tune of melody
The song we used to sing
The joy love can bring
In my future lies ahead the struggle for my bread
The love I feel I think its so real
I look up to the stars its so near yet far
It gives a light to the world we live in
I look up to the moon to see its beauty gloom
To see the brightness shining on meee!
