

She

Blackbear

She closes her eyes
She put her kids to bed
And told 'em not to cry
She closes the doors
To the medicine cabinets
She wakes up on the floor
She's standing alone
In the middle of the street
With her ear to her cellphone
But she loves to hear herself sing
But she cries herself to sleep
As her world starts to sink

Cause she's walking to her hometown
Just to see the leaves on the ground
The leaves on the ground
And she don't wanna be found
No she don't wanna be found
She don't wanna be found
No she don't wanna be found

She thinks of the days
In her red Camaro as the years speed away
And she wants to go back to
All the places that she's seen and all the people that she knew
And he treats her so bad
And left her with two kids
He pretends he never had
And we just try to stay strong
Cause even if your heart strays you know where you belong with me

Cause she's walking to her hometown
Just to see the leaves on the ground
The leaves on the ground
And she don't wanna be found
No she don't wanna be found
She don't wanna be found
No she don't wanna be found
