

Stone Cold Body

Blackbriar

Naked body, naked soul
The door is locked, I am alone
I am struck with horripilation, emptiness and isolation
Would you like to come in? And feel my now bumpy skin?
Come sit with me on the bathroom floor
I need you to give me something more

I like my showers burning hot to compensate warmth and love
I let the water embrace me and heat up my stone cold body
I like my showers burning hot to compensate warmth and love
I let the water embrace me and heat up my stone cold body

Naked spirit, naked mind
Drifting away, blinding my eyes
Breathing in the steamy air, pretending to be elsewhere
Would you like to come in? Watch me drown and hear me sing?
You won't find any modesty over here
Nothing but pure honesty my dear

I like my showers burning hot to compensate warmth and love
I let the water embrace me and heat up my stone cold body
I like my showers burning hot to compensate warmth and love
I let the water embrace me and heat up my stone cold body

Wow, I am so cold
Wow, I am so cold
Wow wow wow wow wow wow!

I like my showers burning hot to compensate warmth and love
I let the water embrace me and heat up my stone cold body
I like my showers burning hot to compensate warmth and love
I let the water embrace me and heat up my stone cold body
