blackwave.

I am never ready
And never am I not
From A to B to C
In spacetime no clock
Lonely through the journey
No flock (yeah)
On or off the track keep it running don't stop Will I get one shot, or many
No God could tell me
No dream, no nightmare to sell me
No telly to distract me from my gut feel
This shit real but no gun kill me or my homies we forever living
All of our feelings, visions
Stuck inside the systems
Once they're laid down over wax that's Only if you listen dead or immortalized
We got that power in our hands
I thank you in advance if you think twice 'bout your decisions
But here I am running
Fugitive to what's coming
Pondering about the ways I could raised
And cancel the existence of the root of all evil
Want to and got to get back, back to my people

All of my pain and my sorrow
Won't be for today or tomorrow
I've been waiting for the day
To get off the tracks I can't follow
All of my pain and my sorrow
Won't be for today or tomorrow
I've been waiting for the day
To get off the tracks I can't follow

The horizon never changes
They say my life's wasted
But sometimes taking your time means you actually save it Rushing is to erase it
I admit it's like a wasteland
They say you need an escape plan
But sometimes taking your time for your dreams to align is faster than when you chase them (yeah)
My horizon always changes
I sometimes think my life's wasted
I'm just going where the tracks lead me
They ask if I'm really free
I just think I believe that You're not bound to the tracks of a train you pave your own way
And make your own faith but realize that nothing will go as planned there's some things we'll just never understand

All of my pain and my sorrow
Won't be for today or tomorrow
I've been waiting for the day

To get off the tracks I can't follow
All of my pain and my sorrow
Won't be for today or tomorrow
I've been waiting for the day
To get off the tracks I can't follow
