

(Whatever)

Came back again from extraordinary lengths
Just to justify the ends
No more pressure to pretend
To be less than what I am
And the story starts again
And the truth comes back in trend
I'm not holier-than-thou (I'm really not)
But we're trendier than them (Haha)

Kill a part of you that's not true to the heart of you
Pull a joker card on you, I didn't mean to startle you
I pulled off, it was not enough, I left a scar on you
I guess that game wasn't hard enough, sorry to bother you
This drain life, it will harden you, might make a martyr out of you (Haha)
I might walk a lonely road, but I walk the road I choose
The fame and the glory is what came from the pleasures and the pain
(Memories will never fade and the traumas will remain)

I want innocence, Snow White
Want innocence
I want innocence, Snow White
The way she shines her light
You'll always be by my side
And I'll walk forward with pride
And as legends never die
Live forever through the times
Gold cross means you crossed my mind
Blind in faith and love I'm blind (I'm blind)

I'm three steps ahead of you, to put you on a pedestal
I never knew a thing but I knew when I was ready to, to learn
How to walk the golden curve and to be where we deserve
To be far away from hurt, place the nine above the world

Came back again from extraordinary lengths
Just to justify the ends
No more pressure to pretend
To be less than what I am
And the story starts again
And the truth comes back in trend
I'm not holier-than-thou
But we're trendier than them
But we're trendier than them

Nine