

Invisible World

Blake Babies

I see an invisible world in the eyes of a beautiful girl
The promise of a foreign place, the sadness in a perfect face
You know it's tearing me apart, the loneliness inside my heart and you.
The emptiness of infinite space, a sigh of irresistable grace
The magic of a perfect kiss, to lose yourself in selflessness
The colors of the soul unfurled the beauty of the physical world in you.
Tell me something
I feel nothing but my own skin
Cold against the rain, against the wind
I just want to feel myself again
See
Feel
Never been so real
Never been so near
Never would have guessed
Like a butterfly at best
A caterpillar blessed when you come undressed, yeah.
I see an invisible world in the eyes of a beautiful girl
I see
Yeah
