

Before You Go

Blake McGrath

Staring at myself in the mirror
I see so many parts of you
And every time that I start feeling fear
Those are the parts that pull me through
Now it's my turn to become your comfort
'Cause even superman feels afraid sometimes
Father, God stays with you through the thunder
So take my hand, we'll be okay tonight

'Cause I'll be your strength
I'll be your shield
Everything you've been for me since I knew how to feel
Don't you be afraid
Dance with me in the rain
And I'll reflect right back at you all the good that you gave
If it's my love you should know
I'll remind you before you go

All those days I felt like I was sinking
You never stopped to make me feel so tall
And every time I found myself in struggle
You were there to help me find my call
Turning through the trials of my dreams
The destiny that you have always known
So every time I'd cry myself to sleep
I felt you speak the strength back to my bones

Now I'll be your strength
I'll be your shield
Everything you've been for me since I knew how to feel
Don't you be afraid
Dance with me in the rain
And I'll reflect right back at you all the good that you gave
If it's my love you should know
I'll remind you before you go

If it's my love you should know
I'll remind you before you go
If it's my love you should know
I'll remind you before you go
Let me remind you
Before you go
