

Innervention

Blake McGrath

The game was over
I thought the war was won
On my own here
Left to see what I've become
No more cards to play
With nothing left to lose
An end will always then came you

White light filled my soul
Head to toe so beautiful
All this time too blind to see
Til you threw it down for me

You are my innervention
I owe you everything
You are my innervention
To start believing

You are my innervention
I'll never be the same
Love to my innervention
I owe you everything

I felt a spark of light
I couldn't tell which way to go
But your hand was always there
Navigating the cold night air
You stood me up on my feet
You brought me back to my journey yeah
You lifted all my baggage
So I could see myself again

White light filled my soul
Head to toe so beautiful
And all this time too blind to see
Til you threw it down for me

You are my innervention
I owe you everything
You are my innervention
To start believing

You are my innervention
I'll never be the same
Love to my innervention
I owe you everything

And I wanna thank you for all that you've done
You are the reason I wake up with a smile
I'll come in dancing in the light
You brought me back to life

You are my innervention
I owe you everything
You are my innervention
To start believing

You are my innervention
I 'll never be the same
Love to my innervention
I owe you everything
