

Let Me Go

Blake McGrath

I've been watching us slip away from ourselves
Orbiting our problems like a carousel
All the love we had, memories on the shelf
And we keep trying to get back to what we had when we fell

Staying cause we're safer in love but it ain't honest
Running in circles long enough that we forgot
We've lingered here so long, what do we want?

Here we are again, just filling up an empty space
Let's not play pretend, I'm tired of the whole charade
I think we both know, even though I don't wanna be alone
It's time to let me go, you gotta let me go

Passing through the days, without catching your eye
Arguments on loop 'cause we can't say goodbye
Try so hard to make it work, we keep up the disguise
Never revealing what we're feeling, getting worse all the time

Staying 'cause we think there's a fix, but it ain't honest
Running through the options in case we forgot one
Holding on too long, what do you want?

Here we are again, just filling up an empty space
Let's not play pretend, I'm tired of the whole charade
I think we both know, even though I don't wanna be alone
It's time to let me go, you gotta let me go

Sorry I put this on you
Someone's gotta make the move
If you see another way out, you let me know
Maybe there's a second chance
Embers from our old romance
If you still see a flame, show me now

Here we are again, just filling up an empty space
Let's not play pretend, I'm tired of the whole charade
I think we both know, even though I don't wanna be alone
It's time to let me go
