

Missing You

Blake McGrath

Crumple my t-shirt
Look me in the eyes, don't let me go
Kiss you on the neck now
I could stay here all day, but I have to go
I have to go now

Your cologne it lingers
I could smell your sweat on my fingers
You're the air I breathe
All day you stay with me

When you close the door
I'm already missing you
When you hang up the phone
I'm already missing you
I'm reminded everywhere
Stop your searching, stay right there
Up till I get home
I'm already missing you

I'm already missing you

Sun lights your hair in a blue room
Wonder what you dream in the afternoon
Time to wake up now
Whisper in my ear, "Do you have to go?"
Well I don't know now

Your kiss left an imprint
Like a new tattoo I'm wearing it
Pocket of my jeans
All day you stay with me

When you close the door
I'm already missing you
When you hang up the phone
I'm already missing you, yeah
I'm reminded everywhere
Stop your searching, stay right there
Up till I get home
I'm already missing you

Can't wait to seize the night
Wrapped up in you so tight
Like you're my oxygen
Can't help but rush right in
Hang on your every kiss
Couldn't life just stay like this?
'Cause I can't take a step without your tenderness

When you close the door
I'm already missing you
When you hang up the phone
I'm already missing you
I'm reminded everywhere

I'm already, already missing you

When you close the door
I'm already missing you
I'm already missing you, yeah
Up till I get home
I'm already missing you, yeah

I'm already missing
You
