

Women Know

Blake Mills

After many phone calls from all sides
To anyone who falls alone and still has her in mind
Man, everything gonna turn out fine
Right away I know that nothing's gonna change my mind

'Cause when a man of a middle life falls in love, he justifies it
And women of middle life falls in love, she does right by it
Fine and true, it's all the same to you
But if I'm right, don't just deny it

Once before and once again, now we'll never know it's real
How do you think that makes me feel?
When a man's in love, he justifies it
When a man feels pain, he tries to hide it
And a woman knows, women know

When all things are quite silent in her head and in her heart
If alone, we are together we'll fall apart
Fine and true, it's all the same to you
But if I'm right, then this is how and when and where love starts