(Na na na na na na na) (Na na na na na na na)

You ever wondered why country songs say the same old thing, Like a broken record skipping down on Main, Pretty girls, pickups and cut-off jeans? You know what I mean

Dirt roads, corn rows and homemade wine Juke joints, jumping on the county line Heard 'em singing 'bout it a million times But I don't mind

As long as there's a small town and a Saturday night Blue jean babies in the full moonlight Tip back your Dixie, howl at the stars Every time you hear that sly guitar And your baby's on the tailgate And you're stealing those kisses to a little George Strait That's how we're rocking, that's how we roll As long as there's country on the radio

(Na na na na na na na) (Na na na na na na na)

There's always gonna be a party out in the pines Always gonna be a shot up highway sign Paper sack full of beer and a jar of shine From time to time

There's always gonna be people trying to run us down Saying we ain't got nothing on a big town I bet they'd come around If they came on down

As long as there's a small town and a Saturday night Blue jean babies in the full moonlight Tip back your Dixie, howl at the stars Every time you hear that sly guitar And your baby's on the tailgate And you're stealing those kisses to a little George Strait That's how we're rocking, that's how we roll As long as there's country on the radio

There's always gonna be a part of me Kicking back in B-F-E Yea, that's how it's always gonna be

As long as there's a small town and a Saturday night Blue jean babies in the full moonlight Tip back your Dixie, howl at the stars Every time you hear that sly guitar And your baby's on the tailgate And you're stealing those kisses to a little George Strait That's how we're rocking, that's how we roll As long as there's country on the radio (Na na na na na na na) Some country on the radio (Na na na na na na na) As long as there's a small town (Na na na na na na na) Hmm Saturday nights (Na na na na na na na) Blue jean babies (Na na na na na na na) Yeah, tip back your Dixie (Na na na na na na na) Stealing those kisses
