

Time Can Prove You Wrong

Blanco White

Come my friends take a ride with us
There's room for all, only take what you must
No one leads on the old ring road
So we follow it round wherever it goes

Time can prove you wrong
And all your work is undone
And what you saved is long gone
So now, better look beyond

What I seek is a calm within
An ocean quiet under my skin
The less I hear it the more I try
So they tell me it's all, it's all in your mind

Time can prove you wrong
And all your work is undone
And what you saved is long gone
So now, better look beyond

Time can prove you wrong
What you see is undone
And what you saved is long gone
Time can prove you wrong
Don't you see that it's undone?
I'm too weak to carry on