

Oh No

Blanks

I thought this wasn't working
Turns out I was the problem
And now this place no longer feels like home
And I thought I'd be better off alone

So now I'm writing songs in a different city
But they're all about how you don't miss me
Maybe I should try a different country - oh, no
And I don't have the heart to tell your mama
You weren't the bad guy looking for drama
Now one of us is happy I guess that it's karma - oh, no

You tried, you tried to tell me, "it's impossible"
I can't live in a daydream
Guess I should've listened I suppose
Cause I found out I'm not better off alone

So now I'm writing songs in a different city
But they're all about how you don't miss me
Maybe I should try a different country - oh, no
And I don't have the heart to tell your mama
You weren't the bad guy looking for drama
Now one of us is happy I guess that it's karma - oh, no

And I'm so tired of reminiscing
I just need another minute
To find a way to make this feeling stop
And maybe I just need a reason
To fall in love again this season
Is there some way to make this feeling stop?

So now I'm writing songs in a different city
But they're all about how you don't miss me
Maybe I should try a different country - oh, no
And I don't have the heart to tell your mama
You weren't the bad guy looking for drama
Now one of us is happy I guess that it's karma - oh, no
