

Absence

Blaze Bayley

The sky of blue and empty
They took you away from me
Because you are the air I breathe
Your absence is suffocating me
When will you come back to me?

Where else will you belong?
To live without you is wrong
I can't stand on my own feet
You are the air, the world to me
When will you come back to me?

From my chest, my heart is torn
From my eyes, the light is gone
I can't speak, I can't breathe
You are the whole world to me

No joy, no comfort, no sleep
Without you laying next to me
Tell me when the day will be
When will you come back unto me

From my chest, my heart is torn
From my eyes, the light has gone
I can't speak, I can't breathe
You are the whole world to me

When will you come back