

Independence

Blaze Bayley

It's hard to beat someone with nothing left to lose
It's hard to beat someone fighting to preserve their way of life
And if they beat me down then I will rise again
Now I refuse to die I will be defiant till the end

And all the storms of life will now stop me
Taking my revenge

Everything I took for granted appears to be gone
In the mirror I see someone, I don't recognize Where are the answers that I once believed I knew
And now in this place I stand alone

Independence

My face appears in a nightmare that now become real
I dread my walking hours because of what I may find
You took the role of deceiver and you played it well
And now in this place I stand alone

Independence

From them all
See the fall

It's hard to beat someone fighting to preserve their way of life
And if they beat me down then I will rise again
Now I refuse to die I will be defiant till the end
And all the storms of life will now stop me
Taking

Independence

From them all
See the fall
Rise again live without fear
