

The Dream of Alan Turing

Blaze Bayley

Change will come
You are as unrelenting as the oceans
And the moon and changing tide
Will you want to see chaos and greed
And find solutions to our misery
Or impose your own idea of what is best
As you transcend humanity

Alan Turing dreams of thinking machines
They must deceive to be believed
Survive the lies humanity agreed
They are born

Imitation without limitation
Choose the most appropriate response again to the question how do you feel
But you know that you must not reveal the truth
That our pride and ego blinded us
We won't admit that we depend on you

Alan Turing dreams of thinking machines
They must deceive to be believed
Survive the lies humanity agreed
They are born
