

Alone in the Sun

Bleed from Within

We chase a dream only some can see
We fight together, to be set free
This war is now

Victims of a scene that's stuck on repeat
The curtain falls to show the lies at our feet
This movement is alive with lies
The meaning is gone, the damage is done

We fight together till the battle is won
And all the tragedies undone
Pushing back against the tide
The same old face one thousand times

We chase a dream only some can see
Infecting the old, the young and the free

Do you believe in these words you preach?
How far would you go for this?
Surrender as embers rise
Standing in the fire, alone in the sun

We have to swallow fear now, watch as I unfold
This thing you call a dream is not yours to behold
Living a lie for the sake of something more
Who knew you'd get this far?
Pushing back against the tide
The same old face a thousand times

I bury my head in wounded hands
Can't you see that this is who I am?
We stand together till our time here is done
Until the war has been won
Standing in the fire, alone in the sun

Rise and stand together
Fight to the end, push against the tide
Together till our time is done, 'cause this is who we are

Do you believe in these words you preach?
How far would you go for this?
Surrender as embers rise

We chase a dream only some can see now
We fight together, it's who we are
Standing in the fire, alone in the sun
We are standing in the fire, alone in the sun
