

I am Oblivion, Pt. II

Bleed from Within

I'm possessed with intent
The dream came to life
Sinful conditions gave birth to this vision
Four to believe in me, one to ignore
The dead cannot rise when they're chained to the floor

I hide my danger in the shadows that moonlight missed
Drawing pictures of existence with a bloody fist

My affliction heals
The monster's revealed as I embrace this betrayal

Banished into Oblivion
Sentenced to life inside myself, I hide
Through your pain I survive

This vindictive deception, begging the question
Is this life less alive? Worthless? Deprived?
I'll bring all hell down on you

I curse your wicked sense of pride
And fill the air with pesticide
To rid the earth of this disease
And bring the covenant to it's knees

My affliction heals
Embrace this betrayal

Banished into Oblivion
Sentenced to life inside myself, I hide
Through your pain I survive

Don't you die on me, for the world has yet to see
The desperate plea of a man on his knees
I only kill to rebuild my shattered past

Through the eyes of the captor we were not meant to last
Live this life less alive, through your pain I survive
