Bleeding Through

Give up your heartache Build your weapon to destroy them all We have been stabbed to death Now our hearts replaced with this hole Eye for an eye Eye for an eye, life for a life Together we are as one The broken and the heartless Destroy hypocrisy to eliminate the weak Behind every plastic smile lies the blood of humanity We are the prophets of the night And we will rise at our given time Eye for an eye, life for a life Walk among the hopeless souls We are coming for you We are armed to the teeth Ghost of invincibility We're coming for you Dearly demented The holes in our chest mark the bravery of slaves fighting for your life Hunting for your life We are whores the condemned Cus someone else once held our heart Your broken heart my broken heart Your broken hand your broken heart eye for an eye We fight this fight for the hopless romantic Life for a life We take this on for the battered and broken eye for an eye We fight this fight for the hopeless romantic life for a life For those who felt they weren't good enough And I felt that way And we all felt that way Now we are rising up in numbers And we will no longer be slaves
