

Rise Again

Blessing Offor

I've seen this movie 'bout a thousand times
Stuck in the middle of a storyline
Lost friends that told me they'd be by my side
Lost out on love, I really thought was mine
Been down for the count, time running out
Feels just like drowning in the midnight

But this is the rise again, this is the rise again
When you're feeling like nothing's left, the story's not over yet
When you've been through the fire, and it burns like hell
This is the rise again, this is the rise again

I've been chasing spirits, I've been chasing ghosts
I've been pushing hard against the shadows
And I'm barely hanging on, but I won't let go
'Cause it's not over till I rest my bones
When every door's closing, a window will open
So take off with broken wings into the storm

This is the rise again, this is the rise again
When you're feeling like nothing's left, the story's not over yet
When you've been through the fire, and it burns like hell
This is the rise again, this is the rise again

This is the rise again, this is the rise again
When you're feeling like nothing's left, the story's not over

This is the rise again, this is the rise again
When you're feeling like nothing's left, the story's not over yet
When you've been through the fire, and it burns like hell
This is the rise again, this is the rise again